SUNDAY GAME FINE EXHIBI-TION. NUMBER OF ERRORS MARK LABOR DAY GAME.

Old Timers Play Preliminary Game. Grayling Winning From Roscommon et al.

The base ball fans of Grayling enjoyed a couple of interesting games Sunday and Monday and as an added attraction the "Old Timers" got out for a preliminary Monday and gave an hour fine exhibition ball playing.

Large crowds attended the games and were well repaid for the money and time they spent.

The Bay City K. of C. team came to Grayling early in the season and won two games from the locals. This time that aggrigation suffered two defeats, evening up the score.

Saturday Game.

Babe Laurent was in good form Saturday and held the visitors to 5 hits and three runs, while his team mates piled up 11 hits and 8 runs. Grayling was strong in the field and W. Laurent, and Doroh made some nice running catches in the out field that spoiled what looked like sure hits, and in their fast fielding stopped the visitors several times from getting runs. The rest of the players also played good ball, Grayling only having two errors. Bay City were charged with 3 errors. The score by innings

Again the local team faced the K of C's. The outcome of the game nobody could foretell. The teams were evenly matched and it promwere evenly matched and it promised to be a royal battle. And it surely was. It went 12 innings and was won by Grayling by a score of 11 to 10. It took nearly three hours to play the game but the immense throng stayed to the finish and were treated with thrills and sensations that held their interest to the finish. Johnson started the game for Johnson started the game for Grayling but was a little wild and the first and then got generous and gave the visitors 2 in the second and 3 in the third by errors.

KNOCK TURNKEY UNCONSCIOUS

Jall Physician Prevents Others From Getting Away By Locking Door of Corridor.

Toledo, O .- Three of the $1,000,000 Toledo postoffice robber band escaped from the Lucas county fail Labor Day afternoon after overpowering a turn key, Deputy Sam Zimmerman and Dr. William Shapiro, jail physician. The escape was made without revolvers or the aid of outside confederates.

Dr. Shapiro prevented the escape of the other eight members of the ring by leaping into a cell with corridor keys and locking the door.

The men who got away are George Rogers, alias Lewis, leader of the band; Charles Schultz, and Joe Urbaytis, driver of the robbers' car. Zimnierman, Dr. Shapiro and Dr.

J. C. Allred of Dayton, O., a guest of the prison physician were sitting in the jail office, when they heard a scuffle and then groans from the second floor corridor where the robbers were held awalting sentence. Zim-merman and Shapiro dashed up the stairs where they found Turney Szmetko unconscious. Handing the cell keys to the physician on the stairs behind him. Zimmerman conronted the prisoners.

Urbaytis swung a bunk strap to which a hammer hook had been fastened and knocked Zimmerman un-conscious. The three convicts then made their way to the office, slugged Dr. Allred and ran into the street, one of them picking up a revolver from a desk as he fled.

Reaching Speilbusch avenue, they compelled the driver of a passing automobile to stop and, with the pistol pressed against him, to speed away. pressed against him, to speed away. A general police alarm was sounded and deputy sheriffs in high powered cars combed the district. One witness said Rogers did not join his companions in the automobile but disappeared in an alley. It is a fine honor to have such a gathering here and we are sure, if effort is made, that we can send every delegate away boosting for Grayling and singing its praises. We know this is as our good friend Dr. O. Palmer has singing its praises. We know this is as our good friend Dr. O. Crawford County's exhibit is attracting as much attention as any. In fact, it seems as though people stop longer in front of our exhibit than at the others. Still time to sow vetch and rye to use as green manure next spring. Those who do not feel like investing in vetch, should at least sow rye. Plow in next spring when about knee high and roll it several times over. Please do not treat this green manure talk as a joke. For many years in many lands, the best managers of soil have used it. Perhaps our failure to pay much attention to some of these points has something to do with some men's lack of success on the farm.

Do you suppose that Frank Love or John Love could have lived on their farms so long if they had not plowed Stuff under.

Only little over a week ago I saw Clifford Merrill plowing under a good sod covered with a growth that some men would have cut or pastured. He will not be the looser in the long run. The trouble is not so much in Crawford County soil as in the methods of Crawford County farmers.

What Next! As soon as we get back from the State Fair at Detroit, and the Sagi-naw Fair, we intend to go all over the county with the new soil tester

Hubam Clover will be ready for harvest at an unusually early date this season. Apparently a number of fields will be ripe in late August and the majority will be in condition to harvest in early September this year. Ordinarily, harvesting would come at least two weeks later. The group is long, one person will hardly finish saying, "Did you ever see such beautiful things," before another will say, "Look here! See these wonderful apples."

Our photographs of Crawford County farm scenes and trout streams are unique and attract a lot of attention, too. People are surprised at the tall forage and the good, hard corn we show. Those who saw all these things huddled and crowded

Ah friends, one of our greatest menaces is low aim. On so many of our farms things are slack and shift-less; we are not trying to take hold of the better things and ways that have been found out.

The suggestion is made that canyas be extended be-made that canyas that the plants are moist with dew or rain to prevent shattering of section to prevent shatter dew or rain to prevent shattering of seed.

In harvesting a clean field a corn binder of upright type gives excellent results. A grain binder, or mower with buncher may be used. In using a grain binder, the suggestion is made that canvas be extended between platform and elevator canvas to catch shattered seed, in the same way that canvas is often attached in handling buckwheat. Extreme careshould be taken to harvest and handle the cron only when sufficiently moist the crop only when sufficiently moist so as not to shatter. The seed is ready to thresh when the seed hulls readily between the fingers. It will take from five to ten days to cure in the shock, for threshing according to weather conditions. Threshing may be done from the field with an ordibe done from the field with an ordinary grain separator running at fast speed with heavy equipment. A clover huller must then be used for hulling and the seed scarified and cleaned thoroughly. The Farm Bureau Seed Dept., Lansing, Michigan, is equipped with clover hulling, scarificing, and cleaning machinery and fying and cleaning machinery and will hull and clean unhulled seed.

Requests for inspection should be placed with See'y. A. L. Bibbins, East Lansing, Mich., immediately, if same have not been made.

The umpire turned around about that time and there lay the runner like a dog, with the pitcher standing ver him.

"Did you see this one?" shouted the pitcher grimly. "Come and look at his tracks where he cut the base, then tell me if he's out."

The umpire solemnly announced that the runner was out for cutting first base.

"Yes, and he's out because I tagred him on the jaw," sarcastically mi-swered the tough pitcher, "and he'll stay out until somebody brings him a drink of water."

The country owes its independence in large part both directly and indi-rectly to its geographical environment. Set upon a great plateau, it is a nat ural fortress; and while the natives of most other sections of tropical Africa dwell in enervating jungles or inhos pitable deserts, the people of Abys sinia, thanks to their altitude, fertile soil and temperate conditions in gen-eral, have an invigorating climate and a land literally of "milk and honey." situation near Arabia and Palestine too, has drawn Arabian and Jewish blood to Abyssinia and has given the people of the country a rucial advantage which the African tribes of pure egro blood have not had. But while geographical situation has in many ways been an advantage to Abyssinia, it has brought its disadvantages also. Without access to the sea for centuries, the Abyssinians, held to their inland tablelands without contact with the outside world, failed to make the most of their possession of a lofty religion and an early start toward civilization, and have re-mained a semibarbaric people. It is perhaps remarkable that, isolated as they were, they maintained their Christianity in any recognizable form. Observers marvel at the fact that the principal tenets and observances of the faith are practically pure rather than at the growth beside them of certain superstitions and laxities,

Cut Off From Sea and Nile. As the situation now stands, Abys sinia is entirely cut off from the sea and the Nile by the colonies of European powers; Italian Eritrea, French Somalitand and British Somalitand on the north: Italian Somaliland on the east; British East Africa on the south and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan on the west. But this is a mere holding of the gates by new keepers; since the rise of Mohammedan power in the Near East the country has been cut off about equally as effectively by various Mohammedan tribes. Those people of Arabian blood were able to possession of the low desert lands, but on their invigorating highlands the Abyssinians were, with rare exceptions, masters.

Abyssinia is more than twice the size of the German republic and of about the area of California, Oregon and Nevada together. The country lies in the same latitude as Venezuela and the southern islands of the Philippines, well in the troples; but because of its general high elevation it has, like Mexico, a much cooler and more healthful climate than its proximity to the equator would indicate.

These highlands are from 5,000 to 8.000 feet above the sea. Their rolling prairies are well watered and have a good growth of grass. The climate these uplands is superb, and if one desires cooler surroundings there are mountain chains rising from the plateau in almost all sections of the coun try. Some of these mountains reach height of 15,000 feet and are topped by perpetual snow. Irrigation could practiced in Abyssinia to great advantage, but the utilization abundant water supply in that way seems never to have entered the minds of the natives.

Canyons and Deep Valleys.

The great amount of water which runs down from the Abyssinian mountains has carved gigantic gorge through the tablelands, some which, in depth at least, rival the Grand canyon of the Colorado. gorge of the Blue Nile which flows for more than half its length through Abyssinia is from 5,000 to 6,000 feet deep in places. The material washed from this remote chasm has played an important part, incidentally, in the history of the world. Ground into slit and deposited through the centuries and millenniums in the lower valley of the Nile, it produced there a garden spot and made possible the growth of

In the bottoms of these deep valleys some of which are fairly wide, and in other depressions, tropical conditions of Abyssinia range from those of the tropics to those of the northern tem-perate zone. The land is theoretically owned by the emperor and those who make use of it are his tenants. "Jus-tice" is administered personally by the rulers and their representatives. Good Roads Are Scarce

One great drawback to the comme cial development of Abyssinia has een the lack of roads leading up to the high plateau and over its surface. The routes of travel which have been used for more than a thousand years are mere trails, and the burdens have een carried on mule and camel back since the days of the great Queen of Sheba, who, the traditions of the Abyssinians say, was the queen of Ethiopia. The royal line claims descent from her and Solomon. Some years ago the French began construct ing a railroad from their port of Jibuti, just below the mouth of the Red sea, toward Abyssinia. The Abyssinians permitted this to be ex-tended into their country and in 1917 reached Adls Abeba, the capital, ver this roud a large part of the hides, coffee, beeswax and ivory, which constitute the chief exports of the empire, are shipped.

Specialists in various fields who have visited the country believe that this is but a small part of the products that could be shipped to the world, and that the people are enjoying but a fraction of the prosperity that they might enjoy if they developed their resources along modern ines.

As the only African people which has been able to maintain its inde pendence in modern times in a war with a European power, the Abys sinians have become rather conceited and are inclined not to recognize the superiority even of Western civiliza-tion and culture. Their victory was won over the Italians in 1896 at the battle of Adowa where the pick of the Italian army was cut to pieces. The Abyssinians have bought large quantities of modern rifles in recent years and could probably put in the field in case of war an army of 250,000 wellequipped soldiers, a large part of them mounted.

Feeding cows for several years, according to the commonly accepted standard with little or no additional pasture, reduced the milk yield much elow the optimum, it was found by experiments at the government farm at Beltsville, Md. This condition may corrected by giving the animal dry period of two months, and feeding during that period a ration containing legume hay and grain with a high phosphorus content, with three or four times the amount of protein required for maintenance, and two or three times the total nutriment milk yield in the subsequent lactation period may sometimes be doubled by this treatment. In the case of cows of which the milk yield has been reduced by sev eral years' standard feeding, as fol-lowed at Beltsville, a greatly increased yield can be brought about by feeding "alternated rations with phosphate" during the dry period. This is taken to mean that the ordinary rations are more likely to be deficient in one or both of the principal hone-building elements than in any other constitu

The community at Greve City, Pa., where the dairy division of the United States Department of Agriculture is carrying on community extension work, is active in tuberculosis eradica tion. The owners of several hundred herds signed requests to have their herds tested and accredited; in fact it appears that practically all the patron of the Grove City creamery soon will have their animals tested. This work originated with the bull associations operating in that vicinity; but it now extends throughout the county, and even to the two adjoining counties.

An interesting feature of the situa tion is the springing up of the Grove City Accredited-Dairy-Cattle Show and Sales association, composed of owners of accredited herds who wish to take advantage of the fact that all their herds are clean, to co-operate in improvement, and sell all their stock on that basis. One member who has a clean herd says that after his here was tested he sold some cows for $300 each, which, previously, he would have parted with for half that amount. He had actually offered them for $150 prior to the test.

The bureau of animal industry is considering the proposal of the forest service laboratory to start feeding trials with dairy animals in which the wood product will form a part of the ration and the tests will extend for an entire year at least. We in the British Isles appear to have got rid of the wolf plague. England, in the early Fifteenth century, the beast ceased to be a danger that had to be reckoned with. It remained onger in Scotland, where the very last wolf ever heard of in the roaming state is said to have been slain by Sir Ewen Cameron of Lochiel during the reign of Charles II-an incident hunted down in the land, our insular position precluded all possibility of fresh immigration. In France the case was different. There was nothing to prevent the migrating wolf from reaching the country from the wilder-nesses of Central Europe—even from Russia and still more distant Siberia, the classic home of the race.

Many are the legends, to some extent based on fact, of vast armies of wolves traveling—even as the invad-ing Goths and Vandals—from their hungry deserts to the richer lands of the West, to be stopped only by the Atlantic. At any rate, to this day the black wolf crosses the Pyrenees, and the brown wolf the Alps, to reinforce fraternally the ranks of the muchharried gray wolf of France. And the day seems still far distant when the curse will be finally extinguished.—

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Meither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children ? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:- It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other or gans to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remèdy needed to overcome such conditions. Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

PEOPLE NOT GETTING WHAT THEY VOTED FOR.

Grayling Reported Wet at Night; Bootlegging Seems Open Business.

How much longer must the people of Grayling suffer the insults of the bootleggers and moonshiners? Illicit dealing is said to be openly boasted of here. The peddling of boose seems to go unsuppressed. Drunks are reported common on our streets at

Are the officers unable to cope with the situation of suppressing this form of crime in our midst? A large majorty of the law abiding people of Crawford county voted to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor, and now we must submt to bootlegging and moonshine instead of the saloon. We believe it won't be long before some of our people are going to take the law into their own hands unless this boose traffic is more successfully coped with. Hundreds of thousands of men and women helped to vote the saloons out of business, expecting that that would do away with whiskey also, all for the betterment of our homes, the happiness of our families and elevation to higher standards of living. They are getting a slap in their faces in return.

There may possibly be one prohi bition law breaker to every one hundred persons, and the other 99 have to submit to the humiliaton of having boose peddled right before our eyes. Let us get back of our officers and give them our moral support in the discharge of their duties and then also let each and every one of us aid them by giving such information as the officers can use in helping to round up the gansters about Grayling. If the prohibition law is a good one, let's enforce it; if not, let's repeal it. Just so long as we are willing to submit to the outrages that go on in our fair town, we may be sure that they will continue. If the officers cannot cope with them, concerted ac tion on the part of the masses would be powerful enough to crush out every bit of boose traffic that may h going on here at this time.

Fuller Thinks $30,000,000 May Be $6,000,000 Under Sum Needed.

Lansing .- A third special session of the Legislature and a special state election may be necessary before bonus payments to former service men and women can be completed. At a meeting of the Administrative Board, O. B. Fuller, auditor general, declared that the $30,000,000 authorized by constitutional amendment will be insufficient to pay all of the Michigan veterans. More than $8,000,000 has already been expended, he said. and only about 40,000 of the estimated 175,000 veterans have been paid. He estimated that a total of probably $36,000,000 will be required.

X Vicente Blasco Ibanes was born in Valencia, Spain,

Ibanea was born in Valencia, Spain, in January, 1867, the son of a proprietor of a drygoods shop. He attended the University of Valencia and received a degree in law. He was against the established or der from his college days. As a result he received the first of a sories of imprisonments when he was against the government. He has passed periods of exile at Paris and in Itsly, alternating with stays in prison. One of his protests was against the measures pursued by the government in suppressing the Cuban imprirection. He founded a republican hewspaper, of which he was editor, reporter and reviewer. He established a publishing house to introduce to Spain the great works of European literature at popular prices; this was but one of the attempts he has made, sometimes at the risk of his life, to bring his country into the cur-troduce to Spain the great works of European: literature at popular prices; this was but one of the attempts he has made, sometimes at the risk of his life, to bring his country into the current of medera thought. He was electred to the Cortes, and became the leader of his party. He devotes his time at present entirely to literature.

In his novels he began in the usual Spanish way with pictures of local provincial life with the types and the pictures of which he was familiar. But he deals not merely with pictures; his atories all have an object in which their strengens author is greatly interested. He lacks restraint, his passion for independence in without hounds, he carries his admiration for the realism of Zoln to limits which shock our more restrained habit of mind, but despite the opposition which he has encountered at home and abroad, the author of "The Four Hornemen of the Apocatypae" is rapidly becoming one of the most widely read of living writers.

N 1870 Marcelo Desnovers was lonely lad of nineteen years living in Marseilles. A popular manifes tation in favor of peace, at the first news of war with Prussia, influenced him to leave the country and he made an unforgettable trip to South America, where after many failures and a laborious existence, he becam an employee of Madariaga, the cen-Don Madariaga's fortune was enor

One morning Des novers saved his life

"Thanks, Frenchy," said the ranchman, much touched. "You are an allround man and I am going to reward vou. From this day I shall speak to you as I do to my family."

Desnoyers soon married Luisa, Madariaga's elder daughter, while a young German, Karl Hartrott, a recent arrival at the ranch, married Ellena her younger sister. Seated under the awning on summer nights the ranch-man surveyed his family around him with a sort of patriarchal ecstasy.

"Just think of it. Frenchy," he said "I am Spanish, you French, Karl Ger-man, my daughters Argentinians, the cook Russian, his assistant Greek, the ants natives, Galicians, or Italians, and among the peons are many castes and laws . . . And yet all live in peace In Europe, we would have probably been in a grand fight by this time, but here we are all friends." Julio, the son of Desnoyers, was the favorite grandchild of Madariaga, "Ah, the fine cowhoy! What a pretty fellow you are!" he would say, "Have a good time, for grandpa is always Suddenly the cloud of war cost its shadow over this family. The selfsufficient Dr. Julius von Hartrott sald to his cousin: "War will be declared tomorrow or the day after. Nothing can prevent it now. It is necessar, for the welfare of humanity."

On the eve of mobilization Tchernoff a friend of Julio's, had a vision in Julio, being an Argentinian, was exempt from military service and had hoped to continue his life as though nothing were happening. His inamorata, however, from a woman infatuated with dress, was gradually trans formed by her desire to serve. The war had made her ponder much on the values of life, and her sense of duty to the husband whom she so greatly wronged sent her back to his side when she heard that he had been severely wounded. To Julio she said, "You must leave me . . . Life is not what we have thought it. Had it not been for the war we might, perhaps, have realized our dream, but now! . . .

The vanquished lover said good by to Love and Happiness, but this repulse gave him a new impetus to fill the vacuum of his empty existence.

When Paris was threatened and refugees told of the wholesale sackings of their homes, Don Marcelo began to fear for his castle, and went to Villeblanche, arriving in time to witness the discouraged French army's retreat. Closely following were the invading Germans shout-ing joyously, "Nach Paris!"

Villeblanche became the camping ground for a regiment and its dered proprietor was subjected to innumerable indignities, saw his most choice possessions looted and was the nowerless witness to the murder of prominent civilians of the village. A young officer arrived who introduced himself as Captain Otto von Hartrott. He explained with true German callousness the ruin and plunder of his uncle's castle by saying to him, "It is war . . . We have to be very ruth-less that it may not last long. True war 1 kindness consists in being cruel, because then othe terror-stricken enemy gives in sooner, and so the world suffers less."

For four days Don Marcelo lived through a period of stupefaction slashed by the most horrible visions.

Only ruins of his once beautiful estate were now left to him and he said farewell to Villeblanche. After his return to Paris a young soldier of the infantry called to see him. It was his on Julio, never so distinguished looking as in this rough, ready-made uniplete. With his son on the battlefield Don Marcelo lived through months of auxlous suspense. Through the influence of a friend he was able to see the young hero. A war hospital was established on the estate, but moved on under the stress Red Cross remained to deceive the French about the artillery which was installed in the park. When a French airplane discovered this piece of treachery Don Marcelo found himself in the heart of a furious battle. Ohlo woman for three years could hardly keep about and do her housework she was so ill.

Made well by Lydia E. Pinkam's Vegetable Compound:

Fayette, O. — For about three years I was very nervous and had backache, sideache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appropriate in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial. — Mrs. Chester A. Ball, R. 15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience:

Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without raging with pain. Rubbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me as strong and healthy as any woman; and I give my thanks to it for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQuitty, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described by Mrs. Carsen, Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. McQuitty will appeal to many women who struggle on with their daily tasks in just such conditions—in fact, it is said that the tragedy in the lives of some women is almost beyond belief. Dayin and day out they slave in their homes for their families—and beside the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for themselves and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from those awful bearing-down pains, backache, headaches, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restoration for such conditions it may save them years of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she, too, has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine hasbeen restoring suffering women to health and strength.

Why That Bad Back?

Is backache keeping you miserable? Are you "all played out," without strength or vigor for your work? Then ind what is causing the trouble and correct it. Likely, it's your kidneys! You have probably been working too hard and neglecting rest and exercise. Your kidneys have slowed up and poisons have accumulated. That, then, is the cause of the backache, headaches, dizziness and bladder irregularities. Use Doan's Kidney Pulls. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!
